A lot of bad things are associated with bacteria and that is certainly the case with the type of bacteria that cause Legionnaires disease. It is just as bad to breathe air with bacteria in it as it is to breathe air that may contain aerosolized droplets. Airborne bacteria can cause respiratory infections, bacteremia, and pneumonia, so in addition to being a disease associated with a specific type of bacteria, Legionnaires disease can also be severe. There are a number of other diseases that have been associated with Legionella. Legionnaires disease may be one of the earliest to be associated with Legionella, but other diseases have been associated with the bacteria as well. This is important to note, because this bacteria has been
