BeeFend begins in a prehistoric wilderness full of prehistoric insects, birds, and other prehistoric animals! You are the BeeFend. You live your life in peace, building your hive (hive) and preying on the prehistoric creatures that bug you. One day, scientists discovered that no-one could live peacefully in a world that is already full of prehistoric creatures. A second planet, The Hive, was created where any creature could live with ease. Thus, the conflict began, and wars erupted! The beeFend was called to war and it was a game changer! Millions of prehistorically mutated bees attacked you day and night. You fought your way to the top. You beat the ultimate beeFend over a million years in age. The beeFend defeated him and left him for dead, but the other beeFend snatched the beeFend's tongue and used it to turn all of humanity into prehistorically mutated humans. The new beeFend now rules. You must unite humanity and retake the world from the beeFend! You fly through a series of prehistorically mutated worlds; deforested/terraformed worlds forested/terraformed worlds deconstructive/reconstructive worlds terraformed/deconstructive worlds You can buy a variety of powerups on each level, such as: Flame Thrower Faster Flight Longer Flight Time Charge Shot Fire Bow New Level: Terraforming and Deconstruction Exploration Levels: Different environments will have different powerups and have different challenges. Beefend Mode: "Beefend" Mode is for the players who want to kill the bees. There's more power and you can fly through the bees a little faster (but at a lower altitude) and you can't hide behind walls like in the regular mode. How long can you last? Playing as an Insect: You can play as either an insect, bee, or spider. The insect is the fastest and most agile. The bee is fast and powerful, but is susceptible to beeFend grenades. The spider is slow, but has great armor and a spiderFend that can shoot webs that slow the beeFend. Extra Artwork: The game features original artwork from developer Jared Wood. We are pre-selling BeeFend with

Beat Defender Features Key:

3-4 player (Computer AI)

Randomizations

Controls: Keyboard and "Press-and-Hold" (Multi-player)

The game is playable in single player (computer player) but it is also possible to play against a friend.

The games mechanics are different if you play it with the Press-and-Hold mechanism instead of with a keyboard. You can use the relative mouse buttons to slide the map around. You can also press the right mouse button to reset the current position.

It is currently possible to play in English, French and Spanish.

Of course you can also play with the keys.

Note: To play with the presses-and-hold feature (controls) use the mac aeplay app to set the volume to 100.

You can now play a demo of the game:

Desolation This is an installment in the AAMRIA 2013 series: Design and talk about what we care about - @colab. For the first time ever, we're starting the year off by featuring the work of medical students at the

Johns Hopkins University. The creative pieces highlighted in each round of AAMRIA are often wildly abstract, absurdist and surreal, but this year's entry, Desolation, is one of the most elegant pieces we've seen come from medical students. This group of 12 MBBS students and 2 Nursing graduates from the U.K finished the entry with a beautiful composition of the modern cityscape: buildings in a tumultuous kaleidoscope of light and color with a lone,

You are the Seer, doomed to watch the World's End, the Apocalypse. On the path to suicide, you are granted a mighty power: to freeze time, to slow the hands of the clock, to hold back an ending that will otherwise come to pass. But if you fail to stop the End, what then? You're a shell, a ghost in a ghost world. You don't need to eat or drink. You don't need to sleep. What do you do, as the sands of time run out? Experience the world from The End, including NPCs, conversations, multiple endings, and the death of well known characters. There is no "good ending", there are no "bad endings". Every action you take ends the way it should. You aren't saving the world, only yourself. The End offers no guarantees. The End is a game that makes you ask questions... about the Present, the Past, and Future. Key features: "What if the world ends, but you don't?" To The End is a story that focuses on your own personal story, told through the eyes of a group of characters who are generally cutthroat and violent, but just like you, are trying to get out of the world alive. Is there really a future after the End? There is no "good ending", there are no "bad endings". Every action you take ends the way it should. There is no guarantee that the End won't happen, but there is a guarantee that you won't be there to see it. You are a shell, a ghost in a ghost world. You don't need to eat or drink. You don't need to sleep. What do you do, as the sands of time run out? The End is not a game about world-saving. It is a game about escaping the world. You don't need to save the world, you need to save yourself. The End is a game about imagination, exploration, and storytelling. Originally written by legendary indie designer El-Carlos, and translated into English by extraordinaire Jayne Harding, this new release has been fully produced and recoded by one of the few remaining independent game publishers in Germany. Defend the artifact against marauders and alien. Fight in 2d side-scrolling with up to 3 AI and a huge world to explore. Heavy weapons, shields, and lasers will be at your disposal. I have been seeing pops in my pictures since I got my 1ds3, a few months ago. This camera has shown some problems, it does not like it when I got it out of the box. I was wondering if anyone else has seen this happen before. Ok so I have this problem when I take pictures. I have to stop myself from taking a picture when I see the zoom increase because the photo won't come out correct. What I notice is that when I zoom in a picture it's happening more. The pop is not sharp, it's like a big white blotch in the center of the image where the zoom should be. Does anyone know what this is about? I do not know if it's software or hardware, I thought maybe it was an issue with the lens cover until I just noticed it on a few other pictures I took. I have this problem too. For a few days now. I see the white blotch at zoom level 2 but like daya after that it does not show anymore. Like magic. I have not printed anything yet so far. And I am still under warranty, so I did not push to hard and risk bricking the camera. This camera can be nice once it works, but I still think it's a very buggy camera. This is what I see: The photos are not enlarged so it looks smaller, but when you take another photo it shows the same thing again: Can anyone help? Thank you in advance. P.S.: If this is the wrong place for this question, please, feel free to point me to the right spot. If it's a software bug, then you should have experienced this with your other camera as well. There's nothing the manufacturer can do about it at this point, so you may as well just live with it. If it's a hardware bug, then you may be able to return the camera for a refund.Q: React Native 0.55.2 ComponentWillReceiveProps Not Called I am upgrading to 0.55.2 (from 0.49.0) and I am getting the following error in the console
