Previously, FIFA developers have utilised data from a dedicated motion capture studio. While there are issues associated with this approach, by using motion capture data from the real-life players of a football match, FIFA 22 will allow players to enjoy a totally new, authentic experience. FIFA 22 focuses on player individuality, with FM.tv added to the hub, as well as individual club rivalries and players' personal backgrounds. Five of the game's most popular features – Player Impact Engine, Ultimate Team, FIFA Ultimate Team Card Collection, In-Game Stores and Club Connect – have been fully upgraded in FIFA 22, with new additions, interactive gameplay and enhanced functionality. Player Impact Engine returns to the heart of the match where decisions made by the players on the pitch impact the outcome of the game. For the first time, players can now see their actions shown on a pitch-by-pitch basis, as well as the impact of their teammates. They can utilise these factors to influence the outcome of the match and impact their club's performance throughout the season. FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology", which uses motion capture data collected from a real-life football match in motion capture suits. The data captured will be used to power the new game engine. Previously, FIFA developers have utilised data captured from a dedicated motion capture studio. Featured on the FUT team page for the first time, FM.tv provides multiple views of a player's game, allowing players to focus on different aspects of their performance. In addition to the standard 'Player Journal' view, or 'Player Highlights', the 'Tactical View' allows users to see each player's actions highlighted in a simple and easy to understand manner. Furthermore, the 'My Player' view shows fans how they can improve their players on various aspects of game play. "The feedback we have received from fans is incredible," said Dediu. "They have told us that the activation of FM.tv and its new features, along with the 'HyperMotion' technology, has made them fall in love with the game all over again. We're extremely excited to add so many more features into FIFA 22 and it's been very exciting working with current and former FIFA players – who have contributed so much to our development – to help us deliver the experience they deserve
