What's new:

"The Night You'd Wish to Forget" is a song by American singer-songwriter Taylor Swift from her third studio album, Speak Now (2010). The piano-led track, Swift's first to feature a female narrator, tells the story of a girl who regrets the moment she lost her virginity. The singer wrote the track upon turning the age of 18, to prove she was "an adult" and could take responsibility for her body. Musically, "The Night You'd Wish to Forget" is "soul" music, a cross between the music of Phil Collins and the vocal style of pop stars like Shania Twain and Mariah Carey. "The Night You'd Wish to Forget" was released as the fifth single from Speak Now. Recording took place at Swift's home with Swift and Swift's family co-producing. "The Night You'd Wish to Forget" received mostly positive reviews, with critics highlighting the song's powerful lyrics. She performed the song several times, including at the 2010 MTV Europe Music Awards, and included it on the Speak Now World Tour. The song was nominated for a Grammy Award for Best Female Pop Vocal Performance, but lost to Duffy's single "Mercy". Its parent album was also nominated for a Grammy Award, winning the Best Contemporary Music Album category and losing for Album of the Year. "The Night You'd Wish to Forget" became Swift's best-selling single in the United States, reaching the top of the Billboard Hot 100 chart, the song's first single to do so. Speaking about the song, Swift says it was "a tough one to record." Given its success, Swift added "The Night You'd Wish to Forget" to the setlist of her Speak Now World Tour in December 2010. The song was used in several televised commercials, including a Volkswagen Golf ad. The video for "The Night You'd Wish to Forget" was shot in Los Angeles. It features Swift dressed in a red mini-dress and red heels with four other women at a pool party. Additional scenes show Swift driving a convertible Ford Mustang and having her high school friends celebrate her 18th birthday. The episode of Glee in which the song was featured earned the video three Emmy nominations, one of which it won for Outstanding Short-Form Music Series. Writing and inspiration Swift wrote "The Night You'd Wish to Forget" when she was about 18 years old. She wrote the song after her relationship with former boyfriend, actor Joe Jonas

Wiskott-Aldrich syndrome (WAS) is a rare X-linked immunodeficiency characterized by thrombocytopenia, recurrent bacterial infections, and eczema. The disease is due to mutations in the WASP gene. Previously, we showed that WASP-dependent cytoskeleton dynamics are reduced in thrombopoietin (TPO)-induced megakaryocytes (MKs) from WAS patients. In the present study, we aimed to identify molecules specifically involved in WAS-related platelet dysfunction. We studied the expression of neurocan and the heparan sulfate proteoglycans syndecan-2 and syndecan-4 in TPO-induced WAS MKs and compared the results to platelets and thrombopoietic cells from normal subjects. MKs from patients with WAS and from control subjects differed in their pattern of neurocan expression. Levels of both full-length and processed neurocan were significantly lower in both WAS patients and control MKs compared to normal MKs. However, there was no difference between WAS patients and controls. Levels of syndecan-2 and syndecan-4 were significantly lower in WAS patients and controls, and there was no difference between them. Surface expression of syndecan-2 on WAS MKs was consistently reduced. In thrombopoietic cells, expression of neurocan

was undetectable, and syndec
