Q: Is there a way to insert and overwrite big file directly using JPA? I would like to insert and overwrite a file in my database directly from the application to avoid some additional jobs. I didn't found anything similar in the documentation and I've seen some exceptions on materialized views. Is there an option to easily do this? A: This is in fact not supported by Hibernate, see this Hibernate doc: Write instead in a temporary file File file = new File("Filename goes here"); //Delete destination file if its created file.delete(); //create new file if destination path does not exist file.createNewFile(); //Read File content in binary stream InputStream in = new FileInputStream(file); //Write the content to destination OutputStream out = new FileOutputStream("Filename goes here"); byte[] buffer = new byte[8192]; int read; //write data to the file while ((read = in.read(buffer))!= -1) { out.write(buffer, 0, read); } in.close(); out.close(); Q: Flutter Architecture Principles We started a new project (in complete "newness") in Flutter and began to look for good architectural design guidelines. Unfortunately, there doesn't appear to be any ready-made documentation at this time. All of the Flutter docs start with "While you can choose whatever package you want to use, using the officially supported packages gives you access to these features". But seeing as these "features" are still in development, I'd like to know what we may be able to rely on. Are there any general principles to follow for building an app for Windows Mac Linux Open Source Jigsaw puzzle from junglyikan.com description Jigsaw puzzle is a very popular classical puzzle which has been proved to popular among many internet puzzle fans. When compared to other similar puzzles, jigsaw puzzle has larger number of pieces, more lengthy instructions and is more difficult. You will be given a hexagonal board of 43 squares and a set of pieces that come as a 45 x 45 grid in the puzzle that fits onto the board. Sizes of the pieces range from tiny ones that are 1.25 x 1.25 square or smaller to large ones such as the most common 16x16 square. Smaller pieces help narrow down the possibility to fit, and the larger pieces can push the remaining pieces to their sides. Each piece has a letter on it and some pieces can have more than one letter on them. Each piece has the name of the piece to the right of its letter, but all pieces in the puzzle may have three letters so you may have to think hard to figure out the matching pieces in some cases. Each piece has a brand name written next to it in the puzzle. There are 25 Jigsaw puzzles in the tutorial. They are numbered so you can easily know where to start as to where in the board the piece was taken out. We are going to create a single project with this tutorial, so this is the folder structure we will make. In this folder you need to create five folders that are in the order of the numbered tutorial: Same as the previous tutorial, we are going to use "Team Explorer" as our "Microsoft Team Services Account" so we create the "jigsaw-tutorial-tutorial-web" project "Git" repository under it. We have already completed the first tutorial through step 8, so let's start the rest of the tutorial. Add script to Git Create and add the Jigsaw tutorial to our project. Enter a name to your project where the project, app name will be our company name, "John's Jigsaw Puzzle". Select an "ssh remote source" as "github.com". When you are ready and if you do have your GitHub account setup in your "Microsoft Team Services" account, then "Set up git" will take you to a step before "Create Git Repository"
