- The game world is a simulated world, in which the law of gravity does not work. Players are free to move around the world without restrictions.
- Cutting corners is possible, which allows players to skip some of the events in the game. However, an effect is applied to the party.
- Players can explore their own maps on an open terrain map, according to their own system. It is also possible to come into contact with non-players if you are traveling, thus allowing you to spontaneously come into contact with others. However, because you are not the only ones who are independent of time and space, it can sometimes be difficult to conclude which character is telling the truth, and which is a false character who has infiltrated the party.
