Providing heaps of entertainment for all ages, Jackson's parents and his grandchildren helped him make the final film of the series, "Baby Jackson!" Inspired by the birth of Jackson's baby sister, "Baby Jackson!" reveals a whole new side to the Jacksons, highlighting the fast-paced activity of the new baby and family, the excitement of music, the beauty of nature, and the bliss of family time. First off, I enjoyed this video for the simplicity. There's no need for an intro. We get straight to Jackson narrating what's going on. This is perfect for an overnight family break because there's no pesky ads to distract from what you want. The editing done for these kind of clips is what makes it interesting and entertaining. The highlight for me was when Jackson starts to sing "You Go To My Head" and it takes on a more jazzy side. I also enjoyed watching his baby sister's face as she gets to witness a lot of amazing things. There are some negatives. We also get to see the sneak peak of the song "Baby's Coming", which wasn't performed in the actual video but for people who are curious this is the version that'll be on the album. Overall, I highly recommend this video for people who want to get a peek of what's to come in the Jacksons' future videos. It's fast paced, entertaining, and the only thing you'll be tempted to do is sing along.

Q: Scala: How to compare a value to a part of an object? I am trying to compare a value to the String part of an object. If that part of the object is "A" I want to compare the value to "A" and if that object is "B" I want it to compare to "B". And so on.. Here is the object: public class Player{ String type; double w, h; public Player(String type,double w, double h){ this.type = type; this.w = w; this.h = h; } @Override public String toString(){ return "{"+type+", "+w+", "+h+"}"; } } I have tried this: list.map(x=>{ if(x.type=="A" || x.type=="B" || x.type=="C"){ if(x.value=="A" || x.value=="B" || x.value=="C"){ println("No") } } }) A: Do you want to pattern match against? list.map { x => if (x.type == "A") { println("A") x.value } else if (x.type == "B") { println("B") x.value } else if (x.type == "C") { println("C") x.value } } Note that instead of x.value, you can use x directly. You can also use case classes: case class Shape(type: String, value: String) case class List(list: Seq[Shape]) case class ListMap(list: Map[String, Shape])
