Some weeks ago, we talked about the steps needed to make your Web site compatible with tablets and smartphones. If you want to look at a full list of the Web sites that are compatible with mobile devices, you can check here. But what about the Web sites of competitors? You probably want to check out your competitor's Web sites to see if your site is showing up in the top lists. Maybe they have the same sort of features, so you can see if your Web site has anything to learn from their style. Some sites are optimized for mobile devices, and they look great on a mobile device. Some are not, and they do not look so good. Take a look at the Web sites of your competitors, and let us know if there is anything you learn about your own Web site. We are also interested in reviewing other sites that are optimized for mobile devices. You can see a few of the Web sites we have reviewed over the years here: For more about mobile-friendly Web sites, check out our article about what it takes to make your Web site compatible with mobile devices. Don't forget that your Web site
