The mast cell inhibitor N-phenyl-maleimide was administered topically at the wound site after wounding. The treatment appeared to inhibit the number of dermal mast cells as well as the wound healing process without altering serum corticosteroid levels. A similar inhibition of wound healing was noted in the diabetic rat. It was concluded that cutaneous mast cells are important mediators of the healing process in the rat.Q: Can't seem to get the else clause to work I am trying to make this function return false if the ID is not set.
